Old Family Feud Leads to Killing In Middleburg, Va.

Four Arrested Charged With Murder of Merchant—Youth Confesses.

MIDDLEBURG, April 21.—A rumor that a woman member of either the Hatcher or Furr families was the cause of the feud that sprang up between the two and which culminated Saturday night in the fatal shooting at Middleburg of Irving Hatcher, was being investigated by authorities working on the case here today.

According to the story in circulation, about a week before Hatcher and the Furr family were in the last January. Residents of Middleburg recalled tonight that in the same month Hatcher and Lewis Furr, engaged in a bloody but little known case of which was not known. Much of the mystery and so far as the killing of Hatcher is concerned, it is reported that a preliminary hearing to be given the accused Furr here next Monday or Tuesday. The hearing will be conducted by three magistrates of the county and will take place in the Middleburg courthouse. The hearing depends on when William C. Hall, counsel for the Furr, returns from Richmond, where he is sitting with the state legislature, of which he is a member.

Hatcher, who was well known in Washington, where he did most of his trading, was shot through the body just above the heart as he stepped from the general store conducted by William Mitchell, dying almost instantly.

Three other members of the Furr family, Charles Furr, the boy's father, and his uncle and cousin, Lewis and Lewis Furr, are being held in the county prison here charged with complicity in the shooting.

All, with the exception of Milton, protest their innocence but they are being held as the result of information supplied by residents of the town in which the tragedy occurred, after an indignation meeting held by the 4000 residents of Middleburg last night, in which they denounced the release of the "confessed" slayer and swore out warrants for the arrest of the others.

A feud "of long standing" between Hatcher and the Furr has been brought to the fore by the authorities investigating the slaying and with it they are placing on exhibition numerous encounters involving the man and woman and those who are being held in connection with the crime.

The Hatcher and Furr have been enemies of long duration, authorities and townspeople declare, and it was generally stated that Saturday night's affair was merely the fanning of the spark, which had been a dangerous flame.

Recently the "ill feeling" sprang into action when Lewis Furr and Hatcher engaged in a fist fight, after a violent denouncing each other. Sheriff T. W. Edwards of this county, said there were no lights in Middleburg on the night of the shooting.

The actual scene of the tragedy was in the general store conducted by William Mitchell. It was from Mitchell and the few who were in the store at the time that Sheriff Edwards of Loudoun county, gathered facts regarding the shooting.

Suicide Suspected Of Killing Woman

Sister-in-Law's Body Is Found On Farm—Supposed Slayer Is In Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 21.—What apparently was a murder and suicide was brought to light today when the body of George Paul, was found in a bedroom over a restaurant on South Kentucky avenue and the body of Mrs. Steven Paul, his sister-in-law, was discovered in her bedroom in a farmhouse at Smith's Landing.

George Paul, according to the theory of County Physician Souder, shot the woman when she slept, went to Atlantic City, and committed suicide. Mrs. Paul was 23 years old, the mother of three children, the youngest 4.

The room in which George Paul ended his life was over a restaurant conducted by his brother Steven and a brother-in-law, James Ross. No note was found and the police are uncertain as to the motive for the supposed murder and suicide, though they believe it dependency over Paul's inability to get work and anger because Steven and his wife had taken him to task for his idleness.

Police say that George Paul recently completed a jail term as a highwayman and that his record kept him out of steady employment. Police are investigating a report that a detective had been lodged against him by the police of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Though Steven and George quarreled because of the latter's inability to work, there was no question of jealousy between them, police say, over the slain woman. So far as could be learned, George had never shown any signs of infatuation for Mrs. Paul.

George had been living at Steven's farm, Smith's Landing, for several weeks. Monday he came to town and saw Steven. He returned to the farm the same day. When Tornado Swept Illinois

The Illinois tornado tore the Irvington school from its foundations and literally scattered it all over town. Not even a whole desk could be found. Had the tornado occurred in the daytime, many of the students undoubtedly would have been killed.

This is all that was left of the Miller Hotel at Irvington, Ill., after it was struck by the tornado that swept through the town a few days ago. Eighteen persons were in the hotel at the time. Only six escaped injury. No one was killed.

Slot Machines Cause Warrants

Warrants have been issued against several Danville merchants, charging them with operating a game of chance in their places of business. A concern has been engaged for several days installing slot machines in various drug stores, restaurants and pool rooms. These machines are constructed so that when a nickel is inserted, a package of mints is received, also from one to four small checks, each of which are good for five-cent purchases of anything in the store. The police claim that the manner in which the machine is operated shows clearly to them that it is a game of chance or whether a person, inserting money, gets one or many coupons. The agent who are installing the machines contend that such is not the case. They say that each time a nickel is inserted in the slot, a package of mints which sell for five cents anywhere in town, is purchased, and at the same time tags worth a five-cent purchase each are received. They claim that there is a small window on the machine which indicates before the purchase is even more what amount of tickets will be received, and that by this, they have complied with the law in showing the buying public just exactly what they will get before inserting their money in the machine. On the other hand, the police contend that these tickets induce a person to continue to insert nickels, thereby taking a chance of getting a large number of coupons where otherwise they would simply buy a package of mints and leave the store. The warrants this morning were against Leland Cafeteria Company, New York Pool Room, Richard Harris, George Covas, Will Osborne, Lee A. Ligon and W. H. Cook.

Some little time was consumed by attorneys for the slot machine agents in arguing their side of the case before the mayor at an informal session of court held in the chief's office. No decision was reached, and the matter was finally left with the Commonwealth's Attorney John W. Carter to decide. Owing to the fact that Mr. Carter is at present out of town, the cases were set for next Tuesday.

It is learned from a reliable source that the Law and Order League and possibly other organizations are responsible for police action being taken.

Postmaster Frank D. Lumpkins has written the Postoffice Department in Washington, asking for relief from certain conditions at the Southern Railway station, which are said to result in frequent delays in getting the evening mail to the postoffice after it has been deposited in Danville by the mail train. It is sometimes half an hour before the mail reaches the postoffice, this preventing the prompt distribution of letters, this delay being due to the fact that frequently standing trains prevent the mail sacks from being placed on the motor truck waiting to receive them. It happens at times, it is said, that trains have to be switched before the mail can be secured, and the sacks are not always protected during this interim, the Marine guards on trains reaching Danville having been recently discontinued.

Music Clubs Of State In Session

The Virginia State Federation of Music Clubs convened in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ernest G. Baldwin, of Roanoke, State president. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Henry Wade DuBose, D. D., pastor of the church.

Business attended to at the initial session was of a routine nature, various reports being read and discussed. Among the reports read and adopted were the president's, and those from the various clubs. The following committee on resolutions was named: Mrs. G. A. Myers, Danville, chairman; Miss Kate Foot, Danville; Mrs. J. Nichols, Roanoke; Mrs. Callrop, Roanoke; and Mrs. Smith, Richmond.

BETWEEN TRAGEDY AND TRIUMPH

Aviation news now rages between the two extremes of tragedy and triumph. In the last ten days three distressing accidents have occurred. On the London-Paris express route, the death of Sir Ross Smith and the collision of two machines at Quantico, from which three deaths resulted—while on the other side of the aerial ledger is to be found the record flight of a seaplane from Palm Beach to New York in a total time of eleven and a quarter hours. Such an entry as this latter is obviously too unimportant to make one feel that the tragic accident have been offset by a far greater good. The only development which could produce that result would be some great service to humanity, and no such service is being visibly offered by the flyers at the present moment. But there is no certainty that the service will not be available. The regularity of commercial flying is surely a proof that in the coming years unprecedentedly rapid transportation can be had in all civilized countries to meet emergency needs especially when sickness or some great disaster makes prompt aid imperative.

Tobacconists To Play Brookneal Club Here Today

Owner Hatcher's Tobacconists baseball team of the Piedmont League, piloted by the popular Tommy Abbott, will play the Brookneal team, an amateur aggregation, said to be a fast and formidable bunch of ball-players at Stonewall Jackson park this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

This game will at least be a valuable practice for the Danville Piedmonters, and it may prove a surprise. Men who are regarded as judges of baseball players, say the Campbell county team can play good ball. The faith of their manager in them as demonstrated in his efforts to secure this two game series in Danville indicates at least that he believes he has assembled a clever ball team.

As the time for reducing the present Danville squad is near at hand, the manager is anxious to give the ambitious aspirants for places on the team an opportunity to show what they have. While no advance announcement of batting order, positions and batteries is made, it is likely that either McIntosh or Regan will lead off and play center; Smith at second will follow and then Worth and Treveler, first sacker and outfielder, will advance the plate. Bashore, Duffy and Marcotte, with Abbott or Beamy wearing the windup and one of the pitching trouts will start on the slab. There may be changes, of course, as the strength or weakness of the opposing team develops.

The game will be interesting as showing the development of the Danville players. They had a fast work-out yesterday, and the men generally are in good shape, and developing their speed. At Wednesday or Thursday they must face the High Point aggregation in the opening league game, and they are eyeing in tune for concerted play.

The management feel that they have assembled a clean fast bunch of players, most of them youngsters who are anxious to make good. Even among the seasoned players whose powers are already known, there are no old men. In fact, the team is a young and vigorous squad of baseball players. There is still an even more definite prospect of securing an infielder who will be a "Class" and it is to say one who has made good in faster company. The signing of Pitcher Neill and the class bunch of boxmen already assembled will leave no anxiety as to the pitching department. The landing of the infielder for whom lives are out may be said to complete the personnel of the team, which is regarded as no longer an experiment.

Of course, somebody must be let go, and if in such a case a bunch of promising ambitious young ball players, it is going to be unpleasant to weed out the weaker men. Mistakes may be made and indeed are often made by veteran managers, but this is a chance that must be taken. Everybody is being given square deal and that is all one can ask.

The games this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon will afford the fans opportunity to see the Danville aggregation at work and near top speed. Incidentally a good attendance will testify appreciation of Mr. Hatcher's efforts to provide this city a winning team.

HANGS HIMSELF
AT SEMORA, N. C.

It was learned here last night that Robert L. Mansfield, 35 years of age, of Semora, N. C., had committed suicide by hanging himself, he died being committed in the burial several hundred yards from his home. Financial troubles caused the suicide of the man, who was a member of the family, as the cause of his action.

NEGRO, RUM AND ONIONS ARE HARD TO GET BY WITH

Jim Flagg, negro, vendor of onions and moonshine liquor, was caught yesterday afternoon by federal officers for two reasons: First, the combination of commodities which he had for sale formed an odoriferous effluvia that could not be ignored—not by experienced rum chasers, second because his conscience was too acutely amenable to the fact that he was selling an outrageous couplet of articles.

Federal Officers S. A. May and J. L. Drung, and County Officer J. W. Hutch were out scouting around yesterday afternoon and were on their way to Mountain Hill when they passed Flagg driving an antiquated mule to a ramshackle shanty. The car in which the officers were riding was going at a considerable speed, but not fast for a whiff of moonshine and onions to stimulate their olfactory nerves. The officers didn't stop because they thought the whiff came from Flagg's exhalation, and they cast back a look of admiration at one whose interior could stand such a potent combination.

Returning from Mountain Hill, where they had little success, the officers were passing a shack in Dog Level, one of Danville numerous suburbs when again the pungent odor reached their nostrils. They stopped.

Immediately the negro began to apply the whip to the ancient mule, who responded so slowly that the officers had no trouble in reaching the rig before it got under way. Under a huge pile of fresh-grown onions was found a gallon of liquor, the fumes from the two uniting to form such a powerful aroma as to make imperative a separation in order to stay in the vicinity.

The negro, the mule, the shanty and the booze were confiscated, the onions were left on the spot. Flagg was placed in the city jail under a state warrant and will be tried in the State court. The federal authorities now have a mule on their hands, the officers stating that the animal would probably eat more in a month than he would bring when auctioned off. The shanty is of negligible value and the liquor can't be sold.

KU KLUX KLAN GIVES $100.00 TO
H-T. SANITARIUM

The Ku Klux Klan of Danville was out in force and full regalia last night and made a most impressive auto parade through the streets of the city in twenty cars. Conjecture was rife as to the destination and purpose, but it transpired that the turnout was for the purpose of making a donation of $100 to Hill Top Sanitarium to furnish a room at that institution.

There were about 100 clansmen in the 20 cars and when they arrived at Hill Top they got out and stood before the building and waved at the patients, as many as possible coming to the windows to see the white-gowned and hooded figures.

The money was presented with a note which stated that the money was to be used to furnish a room, already reserved by the local Klan.

Miss Beale Davenport, head nurse of Hill Top stated last night that she wanted to thank the Klan both for herself and the doctors for the gift.

Danville High Wins Contest From Leaksville

The Leaksville baseball nine lost to Danville high school yesterday afternoon with a score of eleven to five. The game was a good one and the Danville team showed the spectators that they could look after the game. Danville scored two runs in the third inning, while Leaksville did not score until the sixth. In the fifth, however, Danville had added two more to her list of runs, so that the game did not take the form of wild excitement because of Leaksville's spurt in the form of a lone run. Through the remainder of the game it was evident that Danville was the real possessor of the game in spite of the fact that in baseball as in every thing else you can't count your chickens before they hatch.

O'Brian pitched a good game. Benazzi featured in hitting. However, the entire team showed up well with the stick, every man on the team, save one, getting at least one hit.

Clay City, Ky.—"I have been in business here for twenty-one years, am also owner, riding the Kentucky hills and hollows in all kinds of weather and under all kinds of conditions," says Mr. Sam T. Carr, of this place. "To be able to do so, I must keep physically fit, and Thedford's Black-Draught is my stand-by."

"These trips used to give me headaches, and that, I found, came from hurried meals or from constipation. I was convinced that Black-Draught was good, so now I use it and it gives perfect satisfaction. It acts on the liver, relieves indigestion and certainly is splendid. I am never without it."

When you have a feeling of discomfort after meals, causing a bloating sensation, headache, bad breath, and similar common symptoms, try taking a pinch of Black Draught after meals. A pinch of the dry powder, washed down with a swallow of water. This has been found to assist the stomach and liver to carry on their normal work and helps prevent, or relieve, constipation.

Your druggist can supply you with this well-known purely-vegetable liver medicine. Insist upon Thedford's, the original and only genuine Black-Draught powdered liver medicine—ad

Ranch Life Lures Orphan, 16, to Rob Broker Employer of Securities and Cash.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Robert Byrnes is 16 and an orphan, an his job as messenger boy for C. D. Halsey and company, stock brokers, at No. 29 William street, always has been haunted by his life's ambition—to own a ranch out in Arizona. The ranch has been slow a-coming, for there is mighty little left out of $19 a week these days.

Young Byrnes hadn't really realized how far away the ranch was until yesterday, when he stepped out of his company's office knowing that the little black bag he carried contained not only $246,000 in securities but also $879.10 in cash. He went to the Bank of New York at No. 48 Wall street.

Of the securities he carried $125,000 was to have been deposited as collateral for a loan. The rest was to be deposited. Byrnes handed the $125,000 to the receiving teller, snapped shut his black bag and walked out of the door saying he would be back later. But he never came back.

The receiving teller telephoned William Kay, the Halsey cashier, when it came time to close up and the boy had not returned. Within a few moments the Old Slip Police station had been notified. The brokers feared foul play, for the boy had been re-engaged by them after a brief absence because he had two years ago earned himself a reputation for honesty and reliability.

Meanwhile Byrnes had done a little shopping and a lot of thinking and had started for his furnished room at the Upanion club, No. 1 Midway street, in the Columbia Heights section of Brooklyn, a lodging house which had taken him in on a minister's recommendation the week before. Just before he reached the house he met a man, William Norris, messenger boy for Dietz and company, manufacturers, No. 62 Laight street.

As the two talked Norris, eyes grew wider and wider and finally they found what he was seeking. It was Patrolman Joseph P. Larkin, of the Poplar street station, who in answer to Norris' excited exhortations, frisked Byrnes. He found a 7-inch hunting knife, a shiny watch, and $847.62 in cash.

At the station house young Byrnes poured out the story of the ranch. He was all prepared, he said, and would have been on his way in a second-hand automobile he knew was for sale if he only hadn't stopped to ask

THE BEANPOLE FIGURE

How is your silhouette this season? Of course, you understand that you may wear a loose one-piece frock by day and look as shapeless as a potato sack. But the latest word from Paris is that the long, straight and very slim silhouette is the invariable rule for evening, and you might as well make your figure understand this at once.

The interesting thing noted during the past fortnight is that in every collection from Paris there are a few draped gowns, forerunners of what may be a strong revival of draped effects.

One of the nicest things about the draped gown is that, if the drapery is skillfully handled, even a stoutish figure is made slimmer looking by it. And a slim figure is ravishing beyond words!

Thus far the drapery noted is mainly caught up at one side of the low waist line, and at this point the only ornamentation of the entire costume may be placed—a jewelled or beaded ornament, a lovely flower, or even a little bunch of fruits.

So utterly simple are the newest evening gowns that they depend for their effect upon the beauty of their materials and the smartness of the accessories worn with them.

The crepes are perhaps most popular just now, though satin is always liked. More—a lovely new moire, simple, soft and as light as a thin silk—also creeping to the front this spring, and may be worn more and more, even into the summer, though chiffon always has its best season then.

For warm weather nothing could be daintier than the new organdie fans, delicately painted in pale colors and mounted, usually, on sticks of imitation ivory. These are particularly summery looking and quite inexpensive.

Among the feather fans, red, orange and bright green are most seen, often giving the note of color to an all-white costume.

Norris if he, too, were "game to take a flyer."

"What happened to the securities?" "I had no use for them," Byrnes said, "so I threw them off the rear of a De Kalb avenue car as it was coming across the bridge. I saw them balance on a tie for a moment and then they tumbled over. I told the conductor I'd thrown my lunch away because I wasn't hungry."

For Quakeproof Skyscraper Use Rubber Foundation

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—If sometime in the future you should see a 77-story skyscraper doing a shimmy on the beach within 30 miles of Los Angeles, it should not be concluded that either the building or the on-looker is suffering from delirium tremens. It may be only the H. W. Hayssen idea of an earthquake-proof structure.

Hayssen, who came to town in a box car a few days ago and, under the name of J. Johns, announced his candidacy for the presidency on the "O. S." ticket, declares he plans to erect such a building.

Comes now the stroke of genius: It's going to have a rubber foundation!

"John the Baptist," as he calls himself, has presented his plan to the Chamber of Commerce. The building is needed, he says, for the headquarters for the "Christian Soldiers' Union," another name for the S. O. S. party.

"We need a site of 100 acres fronting on the ocean," says he, "within 20 or 30 miles of Los Angeles and upon a beach. The rubber foundation, to be 50 feet in depth, will serve as a shock absorber when old mother earth gets restless."

Fifty of the floors will be utilized for a hotel, with springboards sticking out of every window facing the ocean, thence to eliminate the bother of the morning shower bath. The remaining 27 floors will be occupied by executives of the Christian Soldiers' Union.

"New Orleans almost lost this building," said Hayssen. "That city gave us a good site but it was below sea level—out in the gulf somewhere, so we refused it."

MUCH SHOOTING AND LITTLE HARM DONE IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Notwithstanding almost continuous firing throughout last night, the citizens of Dublin today were relieved to find that, although there had resulted to property and that only three persons had been struck by bullets.

Buildings attacked, particularly the telephone exchange, and the offices of the provisional government, which were under fire both from the front and the rear, escaped unscathed. Every night some disturbance arises in the vicinity of the government buildings, as well as the Beggars Bush barracks, the headquarters of the official troops, but no serious attempt has been made to capture either place, which a few men can hold against any forces not provided with artillery.

One aspect of the situation which is regarded as sinister is revealed in a statement published by authority of Rory O'Connor, that the section of the army operating under his executive is not attacking any barracks in Dublin or under Beggars Bush control. O'Connor has been so candid in his frank admissions of responsibility for his acts, having owned up immediately that he carried out the assault on the Freeman's Journal and that he has directed the daily destruction since of copies of the Independent, in punishment for its refusal to carry out his orders, that his denial of knowledge of the attacks on barracks has had much weight with the people, who assert that if O'Connor were connected with the attacks he would admit it.

The conclusion drawn by those who accept O'Connor's word is that some force owing no control to any faction is operating independently against the provisional government.

Firing broke out tonight at 11:15 o'clock and at the hour of the firing of this dispatch was going on heavily at the Beggars Bush barracks. Beggars Bush and elsewhere.

RUSSIA'S POPULATION IS DYING BY THOUSANDS

PARIS, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Russia's population is dying at such an appalling rate, declared reports received today by American relief agencies in Paris, that the doctors are unable to cope with the situation.

The reports said, physicians are connected with the attacks he would admit it. The conclusion drawn by those who accept O'Connor's word is that some force owing no control to any faction is operating independently against the provisional government.

Firing broke out tonight at 11:15 o'clock and at the hour of the firing of this dispatch was going on heavily at the Beggars Bush barracks. Beggars Bush and elsewhere.

How Experts Size Up Pact

By HARRY B. HUNT.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Russo-German treaty restoring full diplomatic and trade relationships between Germany and Russia is of little immediate significance in a business or trade way, according to Uncle Sam's commercial experts.

It's present importance is political, not economic, they maintain. However, its commercial importance may be of tremendous value to Germany in another generation.

Dr. Julius W. Adams, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, declares that whatever the effect of the treaty may be politically it is not likely to weld effectively the economic resources of the two countries.

Russia's Needs.

"The big advantage of the treaty, commercially," says Goldsmith, "is that it puts Germany in a position to obtain full commercial information which she may later use to advantage."

"What trade is developed for the present will be largely a matter of barter, and Russia just now has little with which to trade on that basis. She has a considerable stock of furs, which may be traded for German textiles."

But, generally speaking, she has neither agricultural products, nor manufactured goods, nor money with which to trade on that basis. She has a considerable stock of furs, which may be traded for German textiles."

But, generally speaking, she has neither agricultural products, nor manufactured goods, nor money with which to trade on that basis. She has a considerable stock of furs, which may be traded for German textiles."

Never Good Comrades.

Dr. Klein, on the other hand, is convinced that Germany and Russia never will be harmonious bedfellows. "The German is loud in his protestations that he, better than anyone else, knows Russia," Klein says. "It isn't so. The average German has much nearer the point of view of America than of Germany. He likes Americans better than Germans."

"And, on the other hand, America understands better the needs of Russia and can more clearly meet her demands. We never will let Germany act as a feeder of American products into Russia. When American products go into Russia they are going to be sold by American salesmen and stand on their own feet as American-made products."

Tombstone Seized Be Sold At Auction

NEW YORK, April 20.—A tombstone on a plot in a cemetery can be seized and sold at auction to satisfy a debt for an unpaid balance on the stone, it was decided yesterday by Justice MacCraty in Queens Supreme Court.

Tedeschi & Tedeschi Co., of Long Island City, makers of the monument which was ordered by Joseph Brandi, said yesterday their attorney is arranging to auction the stone.

The Tedeschi firm contracted with Brandi Aug. 26, 1920, to put up a monument and four name posts on his plot in Calvary Cemetery for $1,250. Brandi paid $475 and had the bodies of his father, mother and two sisters buried in the plot. Other instalments were not met and after trying vainly to find Brandi, the Tedeschi brought suit.

PRICES OF COMMODITIES SHOW SLIGHT INCREASE

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Whole-sale prices of commodities generally closed as necessities of life showed a slight increase during March, according to department of labor statistics issued today and were about two-thirds of one per cent higher when the month ended than at its beginning.

The index number of commodities, representing the summarized averages, was 152 on March 31, compared with 162 during March 1921, and 151 in February, 1921.

In the price of food products chiefly were responsible for the change during the month.

Meat prices during 13 months, the institute of American meat packers declared in a statement tonight, showed a decline of 10 per cent, and a corresponding average selling prices of export meats during 1921, the institute said the figure was 14 3/4 cents per pound, or 51 per cent less than the average realized at export during 1920.

RESOLUTION IS KILLED BY GA. LABOR MEETING

MACON, Ga., April 20.—The Georgia Federation of Labor this afternoon killed a resolution providing for a change in the constitution to admit the eligibility of officers to the actually employed at their trades or bona fide members of locals.

The discussion of the resolution took up most of the afternoon session, during which Luther Still, an Atlanta delegate walked through the rows of delegates, shouting: "I'm for the man with the overalls," at the same time he said he loved Louis P. Marquardt, Atlanta secretary of the federation, and the other officers.

Opponents of the resolution, which was adversely reported to the convention, the report of the committee being finally approved, declared it was an attempt to legislate Marquardt out of office and prevent politicians from getting control. Marquardt is connected with the solicitor general's office in Atlanta.

A message by Jerome Jones, editor of the Atlanta Journal of Labor; J. F. Malope, legislator and locomotive engineer of Macon; Henry Eatough, general organizer of the United Textile Workers Union, and J. A. Miller of Atlanta, featured the convention.

There are a number of resolutions in the hands of the resolutions committee for introduction tomorrow.

Takes Sick Heron To a Physician

WILLIAMSBURG, April 19.—While out automobile with Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hughes, in the direction of Jamestown Island Sunday afternoon, the party saw a large bird struggling in the marsh and immediately went to its rescue. It proved to be a blue heron, its wonderful plumage making it as one of the most beautiful of its species. Apparently, the bird had been wounded or was sick. One of its long toes had been broken and there appeared to be injuries to the head. Its captors had no trouble taking it, prisoner, and since then Mrs. L. M. A. Hargreaves has been doing everything possible to bring it back to normal.

Yesterday she took it to a doctor for treatment. In the arms of its gentle protectress attracted the attention of passersby who were loud in their admiration of the bird's beautiful plumage.

When told it was a stork the children showed unusual interest. If it recovers sufficiently to fly, it will be restored to its natural elements.

FLOOD WARNINGS ISSUED

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Warnings have been issued for the Pee Dee river at Cheraw, S. C., for a crest of 30 feet or slightly higher tonight.

MRS. ALVA H. MCCREARY, of Philadelphia, who says nothing else could say for Tanlac, would be half good enough after the way this remarkable medicine has brought back her health.

It is just glorious to have my health back, and in my opinion there is nothing I can say about Tanlac would be half good enough."

Although I lived on the strictest kind of diet I suffered torture from indigestion and finally my whole system seemed to give way.

"I certainly know how to appreciate the wonderful blessing of good health and I wish it was in my power to put a bottle of it in the hands of every sick man, woman and child so that they might take it and get well and strong, as I have done."

Tanlac is sold in Danville by A. W. Jacob's Drug Store.—adv.

Nancy Astor On Europe's Condition

NEW YORK, April 20.—In honor of Lady Astor, who described herself as a sort of connecting link between the English speaking peoples, men and women, scores of them leaders in sundry fields, of labor, attended a dinner tonight under the auspices of the English speaking union.

Presiding was John W. Davis, former American ambassador to the court of St. James. He showered Lady Astor with compliments as did the other speakers.

In her speech, Lady Astor put in a good word for the accomplishments of the League of Nations.

"It is all very well to hear people talk of European entanglements, but the world is already tangled, and we have to think of a plan to disentangle ourselves. No one could think that English fathers and mothers—with nearly eight hundred thousand sons who will never return—would want to join in a league which would entangle them or any one of their kind. The English know enough about wars never to want to fight or to see anyone else have to fight.

"These mothers and fathers think, as I feel sure the fathers and mother of America do, that the safest way to get out of wars is to join some sort of an association of nations for peace. The Washington conference showed us what can happen when great countries with great ideas get together.

"That misrepresentation and much despised league of nations has already prevented three small wars. It has registered over 100 treaties. It has repatriated nearly 400,000 prisoners—not a bad record for only half a league."

Lady Astor said she thought it a strange thing that she, England's first woman member of parliament, should have come from England's first colony—Virginia.

"It is all very picturesque when one thinks of it historically, but it seems very ordinary when it is done," she said.

The Lady Astor, herself, the mother of 6 children, offered an apology to future little school girls for having added another question to the lengthening list about historical personages, saying, as she said, from Lucretia Borgia down to Susan B. Anthony.

"I have been asked what my visit here was for," she remarked. "Cannot a person come home without being suspected of deep and ulterior motives? I may as well tell you at once I am not on a mission to promote a better understanding between England and America."

Lady Astor said that if America draws back with horror when she looks at Europe, she does not blame her, for certainly Europe is "a bad enough sight."

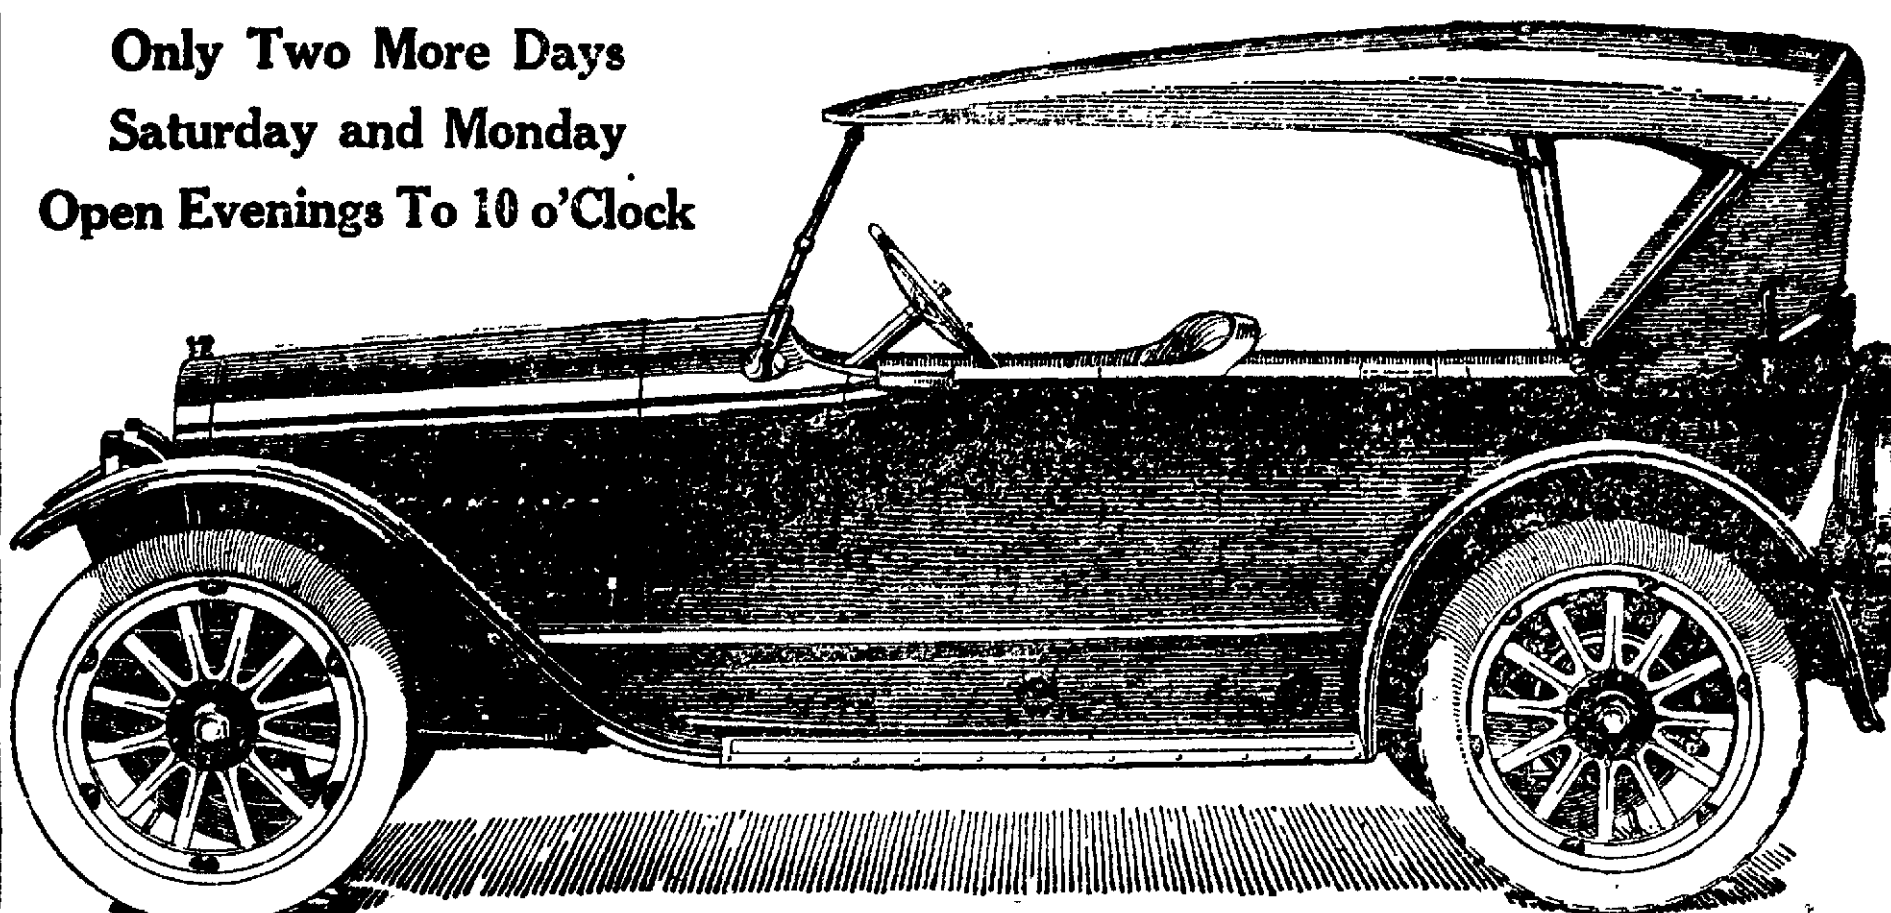

But the viscountess did not believe that standing back is the right way to help, or that any part of the world can truly go forward while another part suffers desperately.

"I am struck more and more," she said, "by the way in which the stock of moral good will on both sides is still thwarted by the extent of mental misunderstanding. When I talk of misunderstanding I am thinking of Europe."

Man Captured In Bismincham, Ala., May Be C. Wilkes

BIRMINGHAM, April 20.—Following a gun battle today, police led by Chief Fred McDuff, captured two of three men who are believed by the authorities to have shot Policeman S. S. Crabtree, early today. The third man escaped.

Claude Wilson, of Atlanta, one of the captured men, was shot once through the breast. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

The other man taken prisoner is Charles Wilkes, who, officers say, broke jail in Roanoke, Va., June 27, 1921 where he was sentenced to 35 years in the penitentiary for burglary and having burglar tools in his possession. He is in jail on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Policeman A. L. Appling who was working with Officer Crabtree at the time he was arrested, positively identified Wilson tonight as one of the three men whom he and his partner attempted to arrest. He was not so sure about Wilkes but said he wore the same kind of suit as one of the three men.

When the posse ran across the men, both sides opened fire. Chief McDuff and one or two of his officers were equipped with rifles and one of the bullets struck Wilson.

The third man, who is believed to have fired the shot that struck Crabtree, darted across a creek into a thicket of bushes and escaped. He wore a light suit of clothes and a cap. He was also distinguished by a chubby mustache.

Bloodhounds were placed on his trail tonight. He was going in the general direction of Bessemer. The former police men were notified and a squad of officers with the Birmingham office continued on the lookout for him.

When first arrested Wilkes gave his name as Walker and his home as Ringgold, Georgia. He denied being connected with the shooting of Crabtree.

Comparison of his fingerprints with the records established that he was an escaped prisoner from Roanoke, officers say they are convinced. He was being held in the city jail there pending the outcome of an appeal to the Supreme court.

Wilson refused to say a word about his alleged part in the shooting of the officer. "I don't have to make a statement," he told the officers.

Policeman Crabtree was shot once above the heart about one o'clock this morning when he and Appling stopped the men in the vicinity of Fairview to investigate a bundle carried by one of them. The men showed

IRISH LABORITES ISSUE MANIFESTO TO DAIL EIREANN

DUBLIN, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—A manifesto issued this evening by the labor party and the trades union congress, calls for a one day strike and demands that the Dail Eireann assert its authority, renege the army under a single command and accept the responsibility of government or confess its impotence and make way for the people to decide the issues.

The manifesto says the lord mayor and the archbishop of Dublin have been requested to invite the representatives of the executive council of the dissident section of the army (that headed by Roderick Roy O'Connor) to the adjourned session of the peace conference between representatives of the peace conference between representatives of the Free State and the Republicans next Wednesday.

It asserts that the labor party and the trades union Congress have consulted the leaders of the contending parties and forces and have been assured on all sides that many deeds of aggression and violence were committed by groups or individuals without authority. Every effort was being made to reduce to a minimum military intervention in civil affairs.

It is declared by the manifesto that it is for the Dail Eireann when it meets next Tuesday, to renege the army and bring it under a single command so that it may defend the nation and its liberties against foreign intervention.

ACCOMAC WILL BUILD 70 MILES OF ROADS
ACCOMAC COURT HOUSE, April 20.—The Board of Supervisors decided at its last meeting to build seventy miles of hard surface roads in the county apportioned as follows: Island district, four miles; Atlantic, eighteen miles; Metompkin, fifteen miles; Lee fifteen miles, and Pungoteague, eighteen miles. A representative of the State Highway Commission is expected to visit the county shortly and give an estimate on the probable cost of the undertaking.

NUMBER OF PERSONS EMPLOYED GREATER IN 1922 THAN IN 1921
WASHINGTON, April 20.—The number of persons employed in industry at the end of March, 1922, was materially greater than it was one year ago, the department of labor declared tonight in a statement summarizing reports from employing concerns in all sections of the United States. Nine out of 13 industries represented in the reports showed increased number of workers, while the four remaining had decreases.

WHERE CO-OPERATION SPELLS

SUCCESS.

Now that plans are being drafted for an appropriate programme in connection with the civic reception to be tendered to Lady Nancy Astor during her forthcoming day's visit to her native city active support and co-operation should be given by those civic and commercial bodies which represent the masses of the people in order that it be given the proper color as a community event and in no sense of the word a mere social function. The city council has, in the name of the people it represents, invited the Astor party to Danville and on May 4th the distinguished visitor and her entourage will be the guests of the people of Danville.

Rarely has Danville had such an opportunity of acquiring a place in the sun of national affairs, and it is therefore highly important that the homecoming celebration be carried off in a manner which will be a credit to the city. This can be accomplished only with a full measure of co-operation

by every local agency to the General

Committee which has in hand the arrangements. It would be little short of a tragedy for the event to be improperly staged or for it to be unworthy of a personage who notably advances the cause of women in their bid for recognition in the affairs of the world. With two weeks intervening before the Danville visit a good deal remains to be done, and it is work with the General Committee itself cannot hope to do effectively without the assistance of Danville's live organizations.

Many of us may feel a lack of the personal touch in the proposed ceremony. There are comparatively few people in Danville today who remember Nancy Langhorne who as a child, left here with her family. This should not enter into the reckoning at all.

The fact remains that Danville is the city in which one of the most famous women in the world first saw light and it is proper that she be accorded a welcome in keeping with the fact in order that she know that though long since absent Danville as a warm-hearted Southern community follows with pride the career of her successful daughters and sons.

The first impressions made by Lady

Astor are distinctly good, judging from the reception given her in the press of the country. Her first speeches show an intellectual temper and with scintillating wit and humor, in contrast with some of her precursors from the other side. She does not come to suggest solutions of our own domestic problems or to lift the veil over official life in the country of which she is now a citizen. She comes primarily to tell of women's struggle for suffrage and of the new era of fem-

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES, BRANCH, April 21.—(Draperies, Wireless.)—Ain't nature wonderful? opined Mr. Tom Draper, of South Boston, relating an incident which he observed in the back yard of his home a few days ago. Mrs. Draper had placed a platter of corn and oats on the ground for the birds. A squirrel broke up the party and was fastening himself on the grain, while the birds were routed and screamed from the limbs of the tree above. A dog ambled into the yard, saw the squirrel and, as large as himself, the squirrel scampered up a tree, and the dog buried the bone. As soon as he left, two crows flew down and tried to uncover the bone. The moral is: Socialism in the animal world works out about as one would expect it to with us humans. Such is life.

Blessings on thee, little dame—Bareback girl with knees the same, With thy rolled up silken hose And thy short transparent clothes; With thy red lips, reddened more, Smear'd with the lipstick from the store;

Friendship

Like the permanence of mountains, true friendship is unchanging. You think you know a friend—his personality, his moods, his various elements of attraction. Yet when you meet him again you behold a swift unfolding of fresh beauty of character that stuns and inspires you. You would possess this priceless personal charm, then cultivate true beauty of soul and you will emanate flashes of inspiration that will endear you to many friends.

The Eternal Triangle

Man and a maid in love. They got married, and they live happily for one or two years. Then they drift apart as people sometimes have been known to do in the course of time. Wife feels neglected and husband sulks. It's the psychological moment for a third party to appear and so complete this eternal triangle.

Why live with the shades eternally pulled down. Why not open the windows of your soul, and see something worth living for, worth laughing at, when a fellow lives like a day in general its time to take a laughing powder, laugh like 'all god darn'.

A Good Example of Judicious Co-Operation

Two Danville lawyers are joshing each other on a case. One says: "I was shocked quite a bit by your remarks in an incident that occurred recently when one of them was asked to sit as a special judge in a 'bootlegging' case. The one who was temporarily wearing the judicial robe was in doubt as to what penalty to fix in the case. He said: 'Say, John, I've got a bootlegger here, and didn't know what to give him.' Well, about $10 a quart, and say, can you fix a couple for me?"

EARL ADAMS TO JOIN RICHMOND

Danville baseball fans will doubtless be interested in the authoritative announcement that Earl Adams, last pitcher for the Danville 1920 team and last year with Syracuse in the International League, has been signed up by Ray Ryan for his Richmond team. Adams will play his old position at short. "Well, about $10 a quart, and say, can you fix a couple for me?"

ANOTHER CONFERENCE

PARIS, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—An international gathering of 200 delegates from 20 countries which will include representatives of the little nations, is foreseen in French official circles, to deal with problems raised or brought to a head by the Russo-German treaty of Rapallo, which will go beyond the scope of the ambassador's council.

GERARD SAYS RUSSO-GERMAN TREATY BUILDS WAR MACHINE

This map shows Russia and Germany, which have entered into an economic treaty. Direct land communication between these countries, which was possible along frontier before the war, is prevented by the States set up by the treaty of Versailles. How long will these States be able to withstand the Russo-German interests? Especially Poland? How long will Russia and Germany be content to trade over the long water route, which ice closes part of the year? At the left is Rathenau, the German, and at the right is Tchitcherin, the Russian, who negotiated this treaty.

BY JAMES W. GERARD.
(Former Ambassador to Germany)
NEW YORK, April 21.—What I have for year or more predicted in speeches and articles has happened. Germany, forced into a corner by the demand for sums greater than can be wrung from the German people, has chosen to make an alliance with Russia and to seek from the economic benefits to be derived from such an alliance the wherewithal to pay her pressing creditors.

STARTED SNAPPING FOLKS IN CIVIL WAR DAYS—STILL ON THE JOB

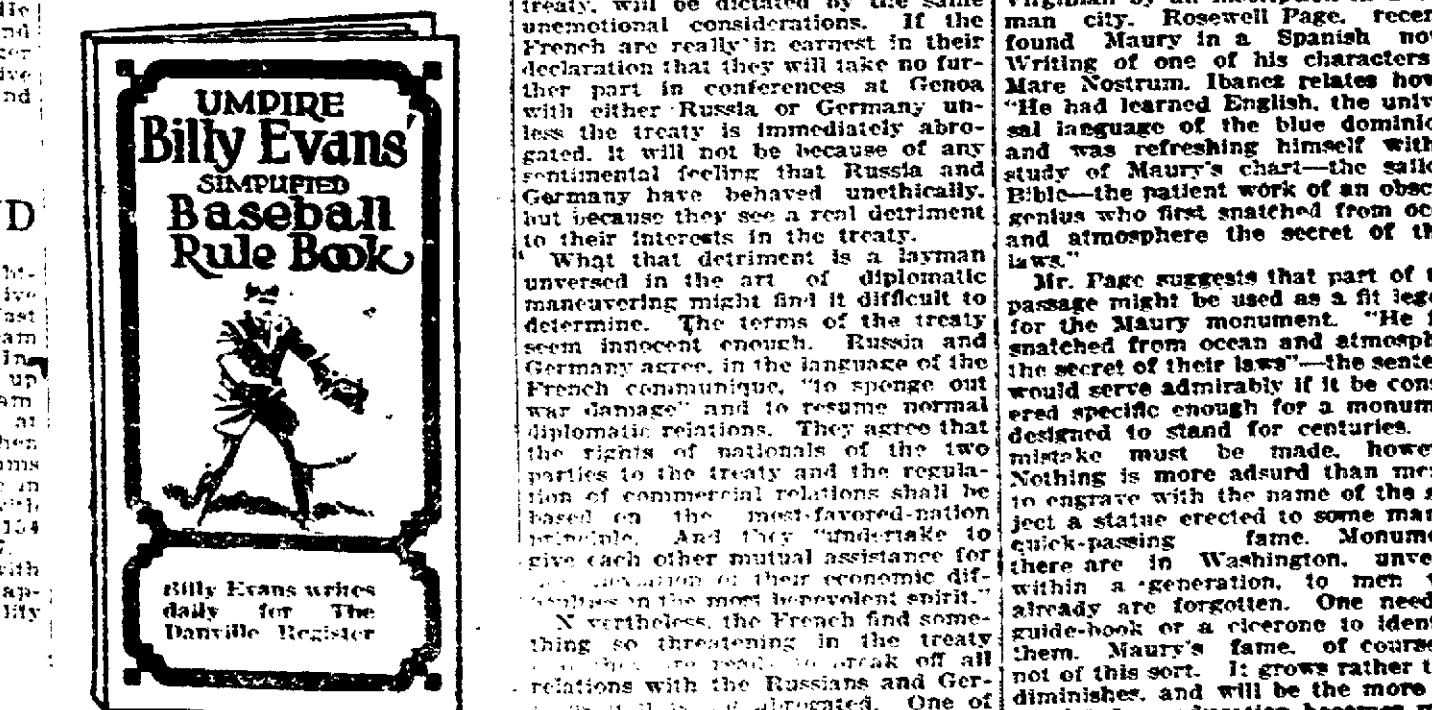

BETHLEHEM, Pa., April 21.—Away back in '62, when grandma wore hoop-skirts, Frank L. Stuber, then 13, started out in the photograph business. The first was a daguerreotype, and the big thing then. Today, after 60 years on the job, Stuber is still at it. Hence he lays claim to being one of the oldest photographers in the country. And to crown his long service as the "man behind the box," he has just invented a new printing machine and has produced a process by which a straight-faced subject is seen smiling when the picture is held to the light. When Stuber started out kodaks, snapshots, dry plates were unknown. His first was a typical of the work in those days. He was required to wrap a plate in a wet towel, run to the scene of the picture, have the film exposed, wrap it in another wet towel and dash back to the studio before the plate dried. At that time the photographer could make prints only on sunny days. A person being "shot" had to sit perfectly still for 40 seconds. And the photographer had to be chemist enough to mix his own developing compounds.

THE MUDDLE AT GENOA.

(Baltimore Sun.)
The decision of the allies to take up negotiations with the soviet government for the reopening of Russia to the world's trade was not made because of any strong affection for the bolsheviks. It was made because the allies, particularly Great Britain, hoped to profit by the negotiations. It was made in cold blood, as a business proposition. In similar cold blood the soviet authorities sent their representatives to Genoa. They knew that they were going to be asked to disavow most of their communist principles. They knew that they would be required to acknowledge the obligations of the soviet government to do other things they did not want to do. They accepted the invitation because they are in great need, which can be relieved only by co-operation with the capitalist governments, and that appealed to them as a less disagreeable alternative than continued privation and starvation of the Russian people.

His head was not aching; but there throbbed within his head, ceaselessly and enormously, a pulse that seemed to shake him at its every beat. It was going knock, knock, knock! He began to have the feeling that if this trifling knocking continued it would beat its way out. Something would give way. He was the father of Effie's child; he was the murderer of Effie and her child. He was neither; but the crimes were fastened upon him as ineradicable pigment upon his skin. He was a betrayer and a murderer, and every reputation that he could produce turned to a brand in his hands and branded him yet more deeply. He writhed in torment. For ever, he would carry the memory of that fierce and sweating face pressing towards him across the table at that court. Not! It was another face. Twynning! Twynning! The prompter, the goader of that passionate man's passion, the instigator and instrument of this his utter and appalling destruction. Twynning! Twynning! He ground his teeth upon the name. He twisted in his chair upon the thought. Twynning, Twynning! Knock, knock, knock! Ah, that knocking! That knocking! Something was going to knock in a minute. It must be abated. A feverish desire to smoke came upon him. He felt in his pocket for his cigarette case. He had got it. He remembered that he had started for Brighton without it, discovered there that he had left it behind. He started to hunt for it. He remembered a previous occasion of searching for it. Like this time, he found it lying about and had put it in all absurd places for a cigarette case—up the back of the clock. Effie! He went quickly to the clock and there, opened it up. Something else there, a folded paper. His name pencilled on it: Mr. Sabre.

She had left a message for him! That cigarette case business had been deliberately done! Tears stood in his eyes. Pityful, oh, pitiful. He turned the page—knock, knock, knock! The knocking suddenly ceased. He threw up his hand. He gave a note of extraordinary exultation. "Ha!" He crushed the paper between his hands. He cried aloud: "Into my hands! Into my hands thou hast delivered him!" He opened the paper and read again, his hand shaking, and now a most terrible trembling upon him. Dear Mr. Sabre, I wanted you to go to Brighton so I could be alone to do what I am just going to do. You see that I am I have made things too terrible for you. So I see the only thing to do is to take myself out of it all and take my little baby with me. So I shall think it will be quite all right. My heart is filled with gratitude to you. I cannot express it; but I shall tell God when I explain everything to Him; and my hope is that after I have been punished I shall be allowed to meet you again, and thank you—there, where everything will be understood.

He turned over. I ought to tell you now, before I leave this world, what I never was able to tell you or anyone. The father of my little baby was Harold Twynning who used to be in your office. We have been secretly engaged a very long time and then he was in an officers' training camp at Bournemouth where I was, and I don't think I quite understood. We were going to be married and then he had to go suddenly, and then he was afraid to tell his fatherland then this happened and he was more afraid. So that was how it all was. I do want you, please, to tell Harold that I forgive him, okay? I can't quite write him, and dear Mr. Sabre, I do trust you to be with Harold what you have always been with me and with everybody—gentle, and understanding things. Goodbye and thank you, please, and reward you for ever and ever.

PASTOR PLAYED UPON HER RELIGIOUS FEARS

MACON, Ga., April 20.—In a suit filed in Bibb county superior court today, Mrs. Annie Laura Bonnard, charges that Reverend J. R. Hunt, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, played upon her religious fears by representing that legal action against him would be a sin and her destiny after death would be adversely affected thereby. She charges that the pastor in taking advantage of her old age and infirmities secured her signature to fraudulent contracts and papers. She asks that titles to property be set aside and that he be required to make an accounting of money she says he obtained from her. A number of alleged fraudulent transactions are cited in the petition. The pastor says he will oppose the suit.

FOR THE MAURY MONUMENT.

(Richmond News-Leader)
If the name of Matthew Fontaine Maury sometimes is known where one would expect it to be familiar, it occurs on occasion where one would not be looking for it. Gaston Leitch, one of the prime movers for a monument to Maury, first had his attention directed to that great Virginian by an inscription in a German city. Rosewell Page, a writer of one of his characters in Mare Nostrum, relates how— "He had learned English, the universal language of the blue dominions, and was reading himself with a Bible—the patient work of an obscure genius who first snatched from ocean and atmosphere the secret of their laws."

Mr. Page suggests that part of this passage might be used as a fit legend for the Maury monument. "He first snatched from ocean and atmosphere the secret of their laws," the sentence would serve admirably. It is considered specific enough for a monument designed to stand for centuries. No mistake must be made, however. Nothing is more absurd than to engrave with the name of the subject a statue erected to some man of quick-passing fame. Monuments within a generation, to men who already are forgotten. One needs a statue-book or a cicerone to identify them. Maury's fame, of course, is not of this sort. It grows rather than diminishes, and will be the more appreciated as education becomes more general. All the same, the inscription explaining why bronze and granite are reared for him.

RUSSO-GERMAN TREATY WAS TO BE KEPT SECRET

Buenos Aires, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Russo-German treaty originally was intended to be kept secret. La Nación, Buenos Aires, in a dispatch to this paper today, says it has learned from trustworthy sources. News of its signing, he says, leaked out of the conference early through the indiscretion of Italian communists to whom the Russian delegates to the economic conference divulged it.

Thereupon, the Germans in order to avoid suspicion of a disloyal attitude, decided it was best to communicate the treaty officially.

The correspondent names the communist deputies (Grazdner and Bonasari) are among those to whom the treaty was divulged.

Cocoanut Oil Makes
A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Mulshed cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls of Mulshed will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves it soft and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulshed cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and few a ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulshed—adv.

HARVARD TOPS
VIRGINIA IN DUAL TRACK CONTEST

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 20.—Harvard defeated the University of Virginia in a dual track meet today by a score of 65 to 57. The meet had been postponed from yesterday because of rain but today a strong, cold wind from the west dried the track and made conditions excellent for the sprinters.

Each team won seven first places and each made a clean sweep in two events. Harvard in the 220 yard hurdles and the 100 yard dash and Virginia in the high jump and the two-mile run.

Baker, of Virginia, was the high point winner of the meet with eleven points to his credit while Burke and Whitney of Harvard were close on his heels with ten points each. Baker won the quarter mile dash by ten yards, while he was second in the broad jump and in the 220 yard dash. Burke, the Harvard crack miler, was the only entry to win two first places. In the half mile and mile run, being especially fast in the former considering the stiff wind.

Winston, of Virginia, barely nosed out Captain Brown of Harvard, in the shot put while Chamberlain, of Virginia, was a consistent performer in the high jump, winning with the bar at 5 feet 3 inches. His team-mate, Zink and Davis, cleared the bar at 6 feet.

H-S ARRANGES DUAL TRACK MEET WITH THE RANDOLPH-MACON SQUAD

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY, Va., April 20.—With the first meet of the season less than a month off, the Hampden-Sidney track candidates are getting down to work in earnest. The Tigers will meet Randolph-Macon in a dual meet on May 5, and a meet with Lynchburg College may be arranged for the following week.

It will be the first time in several years that Hampden-Sidney has developed a track squad, and only a high school has been arranged. Prof. Thomas Smythe, coach of the team, is holding daily workouts and claims to have a strong team in the making. Ben Smith is the only letter man in his branch of sport, in college and upon him Coach Smythe will place a great deal of dependence in the sprints. Smith runs the hundred yard dash in just a fraction over ten seconds and is also a strong man in the 220 and 440 yard dashes. There are a number of new in the freshmen class with good school experience, and some of these but fair to capture places on the team.

STRIKE WILL END IS THE FORECAST

NEW YORK, April 20.—A break in the deadlock between bituminous coal operators and miners, and a peaceful settlement of the strike, "within a few weeks," was forecast here tonight by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Government intervention to prevent a shortage of fuel for the nation will not become necessary, Mr. Gompers declared.

"When it is demonstrated that the miners are standing firm, and are prepared to hold out," he asserted, "the operators will agree to confer with them and a new wage agreement will be the result."

CEREMONIES AT MOUNT VERNON
HELD BY D. A. R.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Ceremonies at the tomb of Washington, with Marshal and Mme. Joffre and their daughter the guests of honor, were held today by the Daughters of the American Revolution, who are holding their annual Congress here. Marshal Joffre assisted Ambassador Jusserand of France in planting in the grounds of Mt. Vernon a tree from La Grange Castle, the home in France of LaFayette, and he also placed a wreath on the tomb.

Another wreath was placed on behalf of the British Embassy and Mrs. George Maynard Minor, president general, placed wreaths on the tomb of Washington and his wife, on behalf of the organization. A tree from Sulgrave Manor, the ancestral home of the Washingtons in England, also was planted in the grounds by Major of the Washingtons in England, also General Bethell of the British Embassy as a gift from Great Britain.

Mrs. Leonard Washington Howard, the last of the Washington family to be born at Mt. Vernon, also took part in the ceremonies.

The Daughters of the American Revolution were urged in an address by L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American unions tonight "to develop a spirit of solidarity and community of interest with similar organizations throughout the American continent."

"The great heroines of the revolution were found in Central and South America," he declared, "stand forth as examples which have been an inspiration to the nations of this continent throughout the century of their independence. I look forward to the time when you—the proud possessors of an imperishable heritage—will cooperate effectively and constructively with the descendants of those who bore the burden of the struggle in Latin America for the perpetuation and further development of that spirit of service for which your organization has always stood and which is the watchword of all the Americas."

SCIENTISTS MUST HAVE COURAGE

COLUMBUS, O., April 20.—To determine whether modern moral ideals such as those of democracy and science are Christian it is necessary "to distinguish between the inner spirit of the churches," said Prof. E. Ames, of the University of Chicago, in an address here today before the Congress of Disciples of Christ ("Christian church"). "Christianity is recognizing the moral obligation of co-operation and experiments in this direction," he said, "to correct the sign of the alliance between France and America in 1778 and the signing of the treaties negotiated at the recent armament conference."

Speaking of the moral courage required by science, Professor Ames said "it required real bravery to follow the lead of the facts which showed that the earth is round and not flat, just as it demands conviction and fearlessness now to express the opinion that the present economic order is not just, that college football is an overdeveloped and over commercialized sport that cities are healthier than the country, that whales do not swallow Johnnies, and that the doctrine of the Trinity is a non-essential of the Christian religion."

Professor Ames asked if the world was growing better or worse, continuing that "this question is to be approached in terms of modern science, democracy and the hunger of this age."

DANFORTH HAS USUAL DEBUT

Danforth, who is expected to throw a strong pennant if he delivers, made his debut against Chicago last night as one of his characteristic he won, 4 to 2. Danforth only seven hits, but he was being his habits of being wild the Chicago club, and Danforth out of the limit. This coupled with the fact that was probably nervous and over-anxious, no doubt had a tendency to throw him off his stride. Danforth has a wicked fast ball that is hard to hit. Opposing players constantly accuse him of doctoring the ball to get the break on the last one.

Beauty, Poisoned, Is Out of Danger

Miss Worthing Was "Sick of Living," Policeman Reports — Mistake, She Says.

NEW YORK, April 21.—"She stated that she took poison because she was sick of living."

That is the notation on the back of the report card of John McGraw, a policeman of the West 47th street police station, who yesterday morning went to the apartment at No. 63 West 56th street, in which Helen Lee Worthing, one of the most beautiful of Florenz Ziegfeld's "Follies" girls, had been found half-conscious after taking bichloride of mercury tablets.

Miss Worthing, twenty-three, until a week ago on tour with the "Follies" production, was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was said last night her condition was not dangerous. It was denied by her friends and by Mrs. M. C. Morgan, Superintendent of the apartment, who also had been acting as the actress' chaperone, that Miss Worthing had tried to end her life. According to physicians who attended her, she indicated that she had mistaken the mercury tablets for headache medicine.

Samuel Kingston, Ziegfeld manager, stated Miss Worthing sent word to him early yesterday morning that she felt ill and would be unable to report for her part in the city campaign by actresses for the poor and needy of New York. She added that she had been crying all night and "felt miserable." Shortly afterward Mr. Kingston heard of her removal to Bellevue. Miss Worthing came to New York four years ago from her home in Brookline, where her father was in business. She has posed for magazines and calendar covers for numerous artists and has been called by some "the most beautiful blonde in America." A year ago she was divorced from Charles J. MacDonald and Detroit after a brief married life and returned to her work on the stage. She has appeared in the "Follies" three years, and has had important parts in several musical productions on Broadway.

Scramble For Bristol Postoffice

BY GEORGE H. MAXNING (Washington Correspondent of The Danville Bee).

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—A great scramble is under way for the postmastership at Bristol, Va., where a vacancy exists. Nine candidates took the examination recently held under the Civil Service to secure eligibles for the place.

They were James G. Tilley, Rufus M. Peters, William S. Keeling, Henry G. Francis, James E. Snodgrass, Robert Gray, John J. Alley, Charles F. Gauthier and John A. Phillips.

John G. Anderson, who was recently appointed acting postmaster at Bristol by Representative Slemmons, is not yet 21 years old, so could not take the examination and is not eligible for the appointment, although he is a graduate of Washington & Lee University, and of Ann Arbor.

If John J. Alley makes a rating placing him among the first three eligibles, it is more than likely he will get the appointment. Young Anderson will continue to serve until the new postmaster can be appointed.

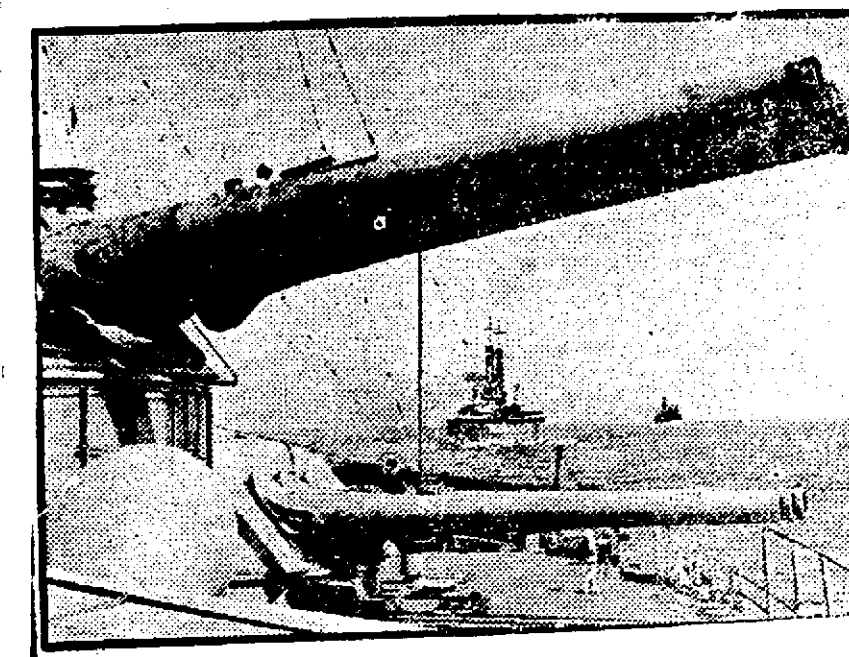

At Tazewell, Va., where an examination was recently held, there was only one applicant, William G. O'Brien. He was recently appointed acting postmaster there and if he makes an eligible rating, he is certain to obtain the regular appointment.

Golf Her Grounds In Asking Divorce

DETROIT, April 20.—Charges that Howard J. Lee, prominent business man and former Michigan amateur golf champion was a "golf maniac," were made by his wife, Mrs. Helen Bourne Joy Lee, in a suit for divorce, it became known today. Mrs. Lee is the daughter of Henry B. Joy, Detroit capitalist, and is a society leader.

In her bill Mrs. Lee declared her husband neglected her and their three children to play golf. She also charged cruelty.

Lee is an answer denying the charges, claimed his participation in the game was a "business asset," owing to the acquaintances he could make.

The White Desert

By Courtney Ryley Cooper
Author of "The Cross Cut"

Fate had given Barry Houston a harsh deal. Falsely accused of murder, a sacrifice to the political ambitions of a district attorney, snubbed by his friends, distrusted by his father and then—

He came to the White Desert to work out his salvation. In the snow and ice of the Continental Divide, on the backbone of the North American continent in Colorado, he began a lone battle against the unknown forces which were wrecking his lumber business.

Allied against him were the frost-warped men of the timber lands and "the feminine Judas"—the woman he had promised to marry. The mounting climaxes of the battle against harsh men and even crueler winter are welded into a brilliant and gripping work of fiction. The charming and eccentric Ba'tiste Renaud and Madaine Robinette, the girl of the mountains, are characters which will remain in your memory.

Tariff Bill Wont Bring A Revolt

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Launching the administration tariff bill today in the Senate, Chairman McCumber of the finance committee, warned manufacturers, factor labor, and retailers alike, that a protective tariff alone would not bring a revival of business; that there must be a reduction of costs to within the reach of the consumers' pocketbook before there could be a return to "old-time prosperity."

Senator McCumber said the way to reduce costs was for the manufacturer and the retailer to be satisfied with "most meagre" profits for awhile and for the factory employees to increase their efficiency "to the highest possible degree." In view of the present high cost of living, he added, it would be "most unjust" for the manufacturer to begin his economy by cutting wages.

"This proposed legislation will open the way to prosperity in the United States, but it will not be attained by about this result," declared the senator. "The American people must do the rest, and right here I want to remember that over 90 per cent of all your products must be consumed right here at home."

When I say that these people cannot spend any more than they earn I think I have sufficiently forewarned the manufacturers of bringing down the production cost of their commodities to within the purchasing reach of this vast army of American farmers and American wage earners' reach. They cannot extend one inch beyond the limit of their earnings.

"We have tried to help bridge this gap between the production cost of manufactured articles and the consumers' ability to buy them by doing what we can to increase the purchasing power of the latter and it is now up to the manufacturer to do his part to bring his cost down to meet the size of the consumers' pocketbook."

"Knowing that the principal cost of idle mills and idle men is this disparity between manufacturer's cost of production and consumers' ability to pay, I think I can suggest a course that will do more for our national prosperity than can be accomplished by any kind of law, tariff or otherwise. Let the manufacturer be satisfied with a most meagre return upon his investment for awhile, then let the employees increase their efficiency to the highest possible degree. Then if the retailer will just follow the manufacturer, the great American public, now hungry for more and better things, will give employment to the unemployed and demands and old-time prosperity will again reign throughout the land."

After Senator McCumber's address there was a dispute between Republicans and Democrats as to procedure with a result that the reading of the 440-page bill was ordered. This consumed the remainder of the day and was announced that when the Senate convened tomorrow it would proceed to the consideration of the 2,000-odd committee amendments.

Objecting today to immediate consideration of committee amendments Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, declared the minority had not had sufficient time to prepare themselves. He said the Democrats had been "working diligently" and gave assurance that they "will not obstruct, but will do everything possible to facilitate the speediest possible final determination of the tariff bill."

Senator Jones, Democrat, New Mexico, asked whether the majority proposed to take up the question of adopting American or foreign valuation. Senator McCumber said the majority was committed to foreign valuation and added that he did not believe the question would be raised in the Senate.

No Settlement Of Russo-German Incident Yet

GENOA, April 20.—(Associated Press.)—The economic settlement of the Russo-German incident after a day given over to private conversations, conference between the Germans and Russians and all sorts of ententes, and a general assembly of the world's press, called by Premier Lloyd George, who addressed the newspaper representatives of 40 nations and announced that the Germans would accept the conditions imposed by the allies and that the Russian attitude toward the London experts' reports would be such that further negotiations would be possible.

After Mr. Lloyd George had made this statement, the Germans announced that they were still considering their reply to the note of the big and little ententes denying them admission to discussions of the Russian question unless the Russo-German treaty was rescinded, or at least amended and approved by the conference.

The Germans are said to be divided in their delegation, this is the reason for their delay in coming to a decision for submission to the allies. The Russians also have withheld official publication of their reply to the London experts' report, which had been promised for today.

In short the day closed with no definite advance over the position of the previous day, but with a general feeling that the Germans will take an attitude which will make the situation easier and pave the way for a conference agreement on the Russian problem.

One of the Italian delegates said the German answer was expected Friday morning, at which time Signor Schanzer, the Italian foreign minister would convene a meeting of all allies together with Rumania, Poland, Switzerland and Sweden for an exchange of ideas on the Russian reply, which may have been delivered by then.

According to the French spokesmen, the French states of one of the allied powers, not France, after the announcement of the Russo-German treaty had prepared a resolution calling for adjournment of the conference.

The investigation brought the resolution to the meeting which drew up the protest to Germany, but being satisfied with the text of the protest, decided not to present the resolution.

The French spokesman added that the French were not so optimistic as Mr. Lloyd George; certainly France was not willing to pay a price without limit merely to bring about a successful conference. As indicative of this attitude, he said that the French might decide to go back to Berlin, with the understanding that they should return to Genoa when their participation in the deliberations was required.

BORDER TOWN CROWDED IN GREAT MINER TRIAL

WINCHESTER, Va., April 20.—How to house and feed the hundreds of miners, witnesses and others who will attend the Logan-Kanawha "invasion" trials, beginning next Monday morning at Charles Town, W. Va., is a question that still is puzzling authorities of Jefferson county.

A business men's committee has appealed to citizens of Charles Town to indicate whether they will furnish board with or without lodging during the trials of the indicted miners, and although a number have indicated their willingness to do what they can to relieve congestion, there are said to be many who are not disposed to throw open their doors to persons not known to them.

Charles Town, formerly a part of old Virginia, still maintains much of its old-time aristocratic attitude, and when the citizens are asked for their hospitality, they usually "know" their guests before they are invited.

Furnish Horse Show Buildings.

It was learned today that negotiations are in progress to lease the grounds of the Charles Town Horse Show Association during the trials, turn the stables over to miners and their families for sleeping quarters, and erect a large tent for their use in cooking and eating. Officers of the association, it was said, have asked a price of $20 a day for the grounds, or $600 a month, with a minimum charge of $150. The miners, to pay for their water and light, it is probable many of the defendants and witnesses will be lodged and fed at Harpers Ferry, ten miles away.

Firpo Is Hoping to Arrange Title Bout

NEW YORK, April 20.—Luis Firpo, Argentine boxer, recently came to the United States with the laudable object of separating Jack Dempsey from his crown, probably possessing the most tolerant personality of any fighter in the ring today.

Though he is taller and heavier than Dempsey, the more one talks with him the more one is impressed with his reasonableness and his fact that he doesn't speak English, but he is studying hard to remedy that. Converting through his secretary, Jose Guini, he gives the impression that with the proper kind of handling in a year or two he may give Mr. Dempsey a very busy afternoon.

Here is Firpo's own story of how he took up the fight game:

"I was going to college when Harry Willis, Sam Langford and other American fighters came to Buenos Aires to give boxing exhibitions. I went to most of the bouts and became so enthusiastic that I couldn't stay out of the game."

"After graduating from college I took lessons in boxing and finally entered the ring as a professional. My family, which is well known in Buenos Aires, objected at first to my becoming a pugilist, but my success won them over. My four brothers have become regular fight fans."

"I have been in some thirty fights in my own country, 20 of which I won by knockouts. There is no future there for a fighter. Here in the United States are all the champions."

"Not that I want to meet Mr. Dempsey today or tomorrow, I know that I am too green. In a year, maybe two, I will know enough, and I honestly believe that I can beat the champion."

"Meanwhile I shall take on heavyweights in my class and hope to work my own way to the top of the division, gaining the necessary mental and physical equipment to fit me for a match with the champion."

"I never heard of that combination in the ring before, but hope that it will be as good as the Irish."

"I intend to stay in the United States until the chance comes to meet America's super-man, whom they say cannot be beaten, and then perhaps I shall return to beautiful Buenos Aires—but not before."

The rather grim look on Firpo's face again made me think that perhaps—some day—Jack Dempsey would be in for a rather busy afternoon.

WARRING COUPLE WINS COURT'S BLUNT REBUKE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 20.—Declaring that the couple's conduct had been silly and ridiculous, the suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Jean H. Stetzer, against Dr. John F. Stetzer, a dentist, of St. Davids, Pa., was dismissed by Vice Chancellor Leaming in Camden yesterday afternoon. The court declared the conduct of the couple was silly and ridiculous, and that they had been enjoying the fruits of their own folly. The court hinted that if they used better judgment there would be no trouble in bringing about a reconciliation. Both reside in the same house at St. Davids with their five young children. In the course of her testimony, Mrs. Stetzer claimed that her husband in November, 1921, refused to permit her to occupy one of the twin beds in their room. She said he had since only spoken to her when necessary. Mrs. Stetzer said she had made repeated efforts to have her husband resume their marital relations, but she was always rebuffed. She claimed her husband refused to do dental work for her and gave her but $30 monthly for personal expenses. She testified further that when their differences arose they were living at Cape May, and late moved to St. Davids. After the house was taken, Mrs. Stetzer stated, one of the children carried the message that the doctor decided she could have the choice of sharing his bedroom or occupying another room. Mrs. Stetzer said she refused her husband's offer to share his room because he did not deliver the message himself. Vice Chancellor Leaming said: "It seems to me that you both stood too much on your pride. I can't understand that you took so much for granted."

"I met him half way," said Mrs. Stetzer.

"It's the plain duty of every husband and wife," said the court, "to meet each other more than half way if happiness is to be realized."

"I've been the goat all through our married life," declared the wife.

"In his answer Mr. Stetzer claimed that his wife voluntarily ceased their marital relations and left his room after establishing a bedroom of her own. He declared she is "temperamental and quarrelsome," and that she refused to accept his repeated offer to end their differences. When two of the children testified, one saying their mother threw a knife at another, Mrs. Stetzer, was in tears.

PRISON DOORS OPEN FOR TWO MEN CONVICTED OF ANARCHY

NEW YORK, April 20.—Judge Cardozo, of the Court of Appeals, today granted a certificate of reasonable doubt in the case of Isaac E. Ferguson, former Chicago lawyer, and Charles E. Rittenburg, once Socialist candidate for Governor of Ohio, who were convicted of criminal anarchy in 1920. He ordered their release from Sing Sing Prison on bail pending the filing of an appeal from their conviction.

Judge Cardozo notified Assistant District Attorney Myers, who is handling the case for the State, that he would hear arguments Saturday on the question of the amount of bail to be fixed.

At the same time he will entertain a motion for a certificate of reasonable doubt in the case of Benjamin Gitlow, former Assemblyman from New York, who, with several others, were convicted in 1920 of violating the criminal anarchy law.

Judge Cardozo's decision followed arguments by Ferguson last Thursday—Ferguson having been brought from Sing Sing under guard to conduct the case.

It was the convicted men's first victory in an uphill battle for freedom they had waged since they were sentenced in 1920 to 10-years terms in prison.

Judge Cardozo said that he was not deciding whether the convictions, based on publication of alleged seditious articles in the paper, Revolutionary Age, should be reversed, but he found reasonable doubt as to whether error was committed in holding that the defendants were proprietors of the Revolutionary Age.

Anti-Bolshevist Says Russ Pact Threat To Allies

BY A. J. SACK.
Director of the Russian Information Bureau in the United States. Representing the Russian Democratic Anti-Bolshevist Parties.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The German-Bolshevist treaty does not change materially the long established relationship between Germany and the Bolsheviks.

What makes the new German Bol-shevist treaty of interest is the circumstances under which it was concluded. It is an alliance between Polish Russia and Germany in order to force certain things at the Genoa conference. The Bolshevik regime needs credit without which it cannot continue. Germany wants reduction in reparations.

The German-Bolshevist treaty is a threat that it the allied countries will not agree to help Russia and Germany, the latter will get along without them and, perhaps, against them.
From this point of view, the treaty is a stupid blunder on the part of both the Germans and the Bolsheviks.

The only result of the German-Bolshevist treaty will be that the French position at the Genoa conference will be materially strengthened and Mr. Lloyd George will be less conciliatory towards Germany and Bolshevist Russia. In his address before the British Parliament on April 3, while emphasizing Russia's need for capital, the British prime minister made it clear that "it will not get capital without security, confidence and peace internal as well as external."

The behavior of the Bolshevik delegation at Genoa does not inspire confidence and does not promise the establishment of internal peace in Russia and external peace between Russia under the Bolshevik regime and the western civilization.

Those who were skeptical from the very beginning of the idea of bringing fire and water peacefully together, have received through the German-Bolshevist treaty additional proof that peaceful cooperation between Bolshevism and democratic civilization cannot be established.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The American relief administration now has Russian famine under control in all the accessible districts, former Governor Goodrich, of Indiana, declared today after conferring with Secretary Hoover upon his recent investigation of conditions in Russia.

Mortality among children has been reduced to normal, he reported, and deaths from acute starvation among adults are rapidly diminishing while the morale of the people in the famine districts has shown an extraordinary change for the better.

Control of the Russian famine until the next harvest, Governor Goodrich asserted, was purely a question of railway transportation the "degenerated administration and equipments of the railways" giving no certainty to the continued movement of supplies. He declared there were enough supplies on the way to Russia or stored in ports to control the situation until harvest if they could be delivered to the famine regions but added that congestion at junction points, where as many as 50 trains have been stalled for weeks, threatened the continued movements from ports.

The former governor said there was every indication that the work provided by the American administration would be sufficient to provide for the next harvest. He spoke in glowing terms of the work of the American committee in the famine districts and declared the members had organized hundreds of committees in the various communities to a high point of efficiency.

The attitude of the Russian people towards the American committee, Mr. Goodrich said, "The word 'Ararian' of the American relief administration, which has the protective sign of the United States flag, has been transformed into a word of honor in the Russian language expressing the generous spirit of America."

Mr. Goodrich will continue in Russia, he said, particularly in the cities and large towns for some time to come, but the great disaster of famine from drought will have been overcome. He said the new harvest in Russia is expected to be economically developed and the work of the relief administration will be completed.
